HELMET ORDER FORM

Taking Measurements for a custom Helmet:

Taking your own measurements for a custom made helmet or headdress is not a difficult or complicated process, really. Remember when you were a kid, and your parents stood you against a door frame, and marked the frame to measure how tall you were? That's the best way to take these first measurements. You don't have to mark up your own door frame, though, you can tape a piece of paper to it and mark that to take these measurements...

Take each of these measurements from the top of the head to:

1. The shoulder bone.
2. Angle of the neck
3. Bottom of the chin
4. Center of the eyeline

5 Next, wrap a tape measure around your head about where a hat would sit, or where you would wear a headband. Write down this measurement.

Finally, look straight ahead while a friend holds a ruler up in front of your eyes, and have them take the measurement between the centers of your pupils.

That's it, really... send us these six simple measurements, and we will be able to construct a helmet or headdress that will fit well, and be comfortable and secure.
